Below Mains Question

Write in Comment Section

Question 1:

Discuss the significance of the recent ASEAN-India Summit and the 10-point program introduced by Prime Minister Modi in strengthening the India-ASEAN relationship. (250 words)

Model Answer:

The ASEAN-India Summit, held recently in Vientiane, Laos, marks a crucial milestone in enhancing diplomatic and strategic ties between India and the ASEAN nations. With the 21st century being described as the century of India and ASEAN, the summit underscores the importance of collaboration amid global tensions.

Significance of the Summit:

- Political Stability and Peace: The summit focused on ensuring political stability and promoting peace in the Indo-Pacific region, particularly concerning the South China Sea disputes. This demonstrates a collective commitment to address regional security challenges.

- Strengthening Economic Ties: The discussions included reviewing the ASEAN-India Trade in Goods Agreement, which is essential for enhancing economic integration, reducing tariffs, and boosting trade between India and ASEAN nations.
- Cultural and Social Engagement: By promoting initiatives like the ASEAN-India Year of Tourism, the summit emphasizes the importance of people-to-people connections, fostering mutual understanding through cultural exchanges.

10-Point Program Overview: Prime Minister Modi's 10-point plan encapsulates a comprehensive approach to deepen India-ASEAN ties, addressing critical areas such as:

- Tourism and Cultural Exchanges: The allocation of USD 5 million for tourism activities encourages people-to-people interactions and economic cooperation.
- Youth Engagement: Initiatives focusing on youth summits, startup festivals, and scholarships at Nalanda University aim to empower the next generation and promote educational collaboration.
- Disaster Resilience and Health Cooperation: The program emphasizes disaster resilience with a dedicated budget and health initiatives to enhance cooperation in public health, particularly in the face of global health challenges.
- Sustainability and Climate Action: Workshops on green hydrogen and campaigns like "Plant a Tree for Mother" highlight the commitment to sustainable practices and addressing climate change.

In conclusion, the ASEAN-India Summit and the accompanying 10-point program are vital for reinforcing the strategic partnership between India and ASEAN, promoting stability, economic growth, and cultural understanding in the region.

Question 2:

Evaluate the challenges faced by ASEAN in maintaining unity among its member states, especially in light of the India-ASEAN relationship. (250 words)

Model Answer:

While the ASEAN-India partnership presents numerous opportunities for cooperation and growth, several challenges hinder the unity of ASEAN member states, impacting the overall effectiveness of the India-ASEAN relationship.

Challenges to ASEAN Unity:

- Territorial Disputes in the South China Sea: China's aggressive territorial claims in the South China Sea have created significant tension among ASEAN nations, particularly between China and countries like Vietnam and the Philippines. These disputes not only challenge ASEAN's unity but also complicate India's efforts to promote regional security.

- Political Instability in Myanmar: The ongoing political crisis in Myanmar has exposed ASEAN's inability to present a cohesive response. This lack of unity undermines ASEAN's credibility as a regional organization capable of addressing internal conflicts and could impede collaboration with external partners like India.
- Economic Disparities: The economic imbalance between ASEAN member states, exemplified by the disparity between more developed nations like Singapore and less developed nations like Cambodia, poses challenges for formulating cohesive economic strategies. This could hinder efforts to enhance trade and investment opportunities with India.
- Chinese Influence on Member States: Many ASEAN countries are heavily reliant on Chinese investments for infrastructure development. This dependence could compromise ASEAN's strategic autonomy and make it challenging for the bloc to collectively assert its interests in partnership discussions with India.
- Diverse Political Systems: The varying political systems and governance styles among ASEAN nations can lead to differing priorities and agendas, making it difficult to reach consensus on key issues that affect the India-ASEAN partnership.

Conclusion: To fully leverage the potential of the India-ASEAN relationship, it is imperative for ASEAN to address these challenges. Strengthening internal cohesion and presenting a unified front will not only enhance its credibility but also create a more conducive environment for fruitful collaboration with India, ultimately contributing to regional stability and prosperity.
