News:- Only 120 camels left in Punjab, the government plans to conserve the animal.

- Recently, 20th Livestock Census was conducted.
- As per the census, only 120 camels are left in the state.
- Camels have suffered a massive 99% decline in their numbers in the past 15 years.

- The Department of animal husbandry has sought the help of the Centre to start any conservation measure associated with camels.

What are the initiatives that are being sought?

- Some tourism project could be started to save the animal.
- Camel rearers should be given financial aid to preserve the remaining population.
- The database of the remaining 120 camels could be made si that their movement, problems etc could be tracked.

- ICAR – National Research Center on Camel, Bikaner has also suggested that the profitable schemes linked to camels should be involved.
- National park for camels could be thought of in Malwa region of Punjab.
- The expertise and help of IUCN and the World Wildlife Fund could be sought.
- Lacones of CCNB centre in Hyderabad, South India can undertake some research on the genetic material of the camels for obtaining better information about the genetic material of the camels.
- Till 2003, the camel population was around 30000 but after that, the numbers declined rapidly.
- Between 2003 and 2007, the numbers declined from 30000 to 2000.
- The mechanisation of Agriculture has also done damage to the cause of camels in the state.
